

10 DAYS PROGRAM ON

Doing Business in Emerging Markets

In Collaboration with
Milpark Business School, South Africa

About the Program

This program offers an opportunity for candidates to explore the business and policy environment of an emerging economy like India. The program consists of three distinct parts: (1) campus-based learning about the target country's business, technological advancements and policy environment; (2) industry immersion and direct engagement with business leaders to gather insights on the happenings and recent developments with a vision for forward looking projects and (3) analysis and synthesis of your findings pertaining to the case studies in the form of group projects. These will be presented as key learnings/takeaways, as well as presentations to the Woxsen community. The program shall involve keynotes, workshops, readings, classroom discussions, and research on the focus country.

Program Intended Learning Objectives

- Understanding and analyzing key theoretical elements of Entrepreneurship in a developing market.
- Analysing and applying the concepts of Entrepreneurship in practice.
- Developing appropriate knowledge and skills to understand, analyse and create a complete business blueprint for the investment community.
